THE HEROES OF MARAKUSH

"Heroes of Marakush" is the ongoing Campaign for fans of Chivalry & Sorcery. It will be run at conventions initially but will be expanded to allow online gaming.

Games that take place at Conventions will combine the aspects of Tabletop role playing, live action role playing and table top miniature wargaming, where players can take there characters onto the battlefield as heroes.

The campaign will take place within the confines of the Kingdom of Solda in the Dragon Reaches of Marakush. You will find that it will an advantage if you have the Chivalry & Sorcery: The Rebirth rules to play Heroes of Marakush.

Characters at the outset will be restricted to Human and use the 150 point Heroic character generation system.

THE KINGDOM OF SOLDA

Location: South of Urtind and to the east of the Ruby Mountains

Emblem: Stag
Form of Govt.: Feudal
Current Ruler: King Grismol

Official Religion: Church of Urto and the Temple of Tyrith

Official Language: Urtish, Moorabic and Pedrandir Area: 135,000 square miles approx.

Population: 3,795,000 Humans

Capital: Leganti

Description:

Solda borders the easternmost point of the Ruby Mountains, with Urtind to its immediate north. Once this region was part of the Urtish Empire but during the time of conflict with the Southern Baronies, it broke away under the influence of the Canus Cult. When King Karonus began his wars, Solda was one of the first to capitulate to his armies. Once the Cult had been eradicated the Church of Urto took over and the youngest son of the existing King was placed in power. King Grismol has now gained the respect that his father never had and he is regarded as an enlightened monarch. He has strengthened his position with various treaties, amongst them a non-aggression pact with Urtind. The ruined kingdom he inherited has developed and grown into a thriving kingdom. Its fertile valleys producing three crops of corn a year, and the increase in other produce has been the envy of its neighbours.

In the north the realm merges with the central Urtish plain, whilst in the south west lies the verdant Solda Forest which gives the realm its name. At present the King is facing his first internal problem with the Temple of Tyrith. The young men and women of the gentry have been flocking to this growing religion and this has resulted in some minor disturbances. So far the King has not acted despite pleas from the Church of Urto.

LANGUAGES

The languages available to characters in Solda are as follows:

Modern Tonques

RELIGIONS

TEMPLE OF TYRITH

In recent years a new cult has appeared within the realm of Solda which deserves a brief mention. As already discussed under Lysenda (qv), the Temple of Tyrith is dedicated to her. Although the Temple appears to be mainly benevolent it does seek to spread the word of Lysenda and has gained support amongst the youth of neighbouring realms. In Vinlon feasts to Lysenda have begun to increase amongst settlements near the border with Solda. In Solda itself, the Church of Urto is warning about the excesses of the religious festivals taking place claiming that some are suffering harm as a result.

This claim has been rejected by Jarynn, the High Priestess of the Temple, and claims that the founder, the Druid Tyrith only desired that the worshippers of Lysenda be allowed to follow the dance. Within Solda a rift between the youth of the realm and the establishment is beginning to appear.

Worship is led by Druid priestesses, and takes place in temples that are in natural amphitheatres such as forest clearings where the ground drops to form a bowl. During the services, which take place every ten days, the worshippers gather to listen to bands of entertainers, who call them to join in the dance. As the dance reaches it's climax the priestesses wander amongst the crowd offering the blessing of the Goddess upon them. In some cases, some recipients of the blessing appear to collapse in a religious ecstasy.

A typical Priestess of the Cult will wear a simple red chiffon robe and will allow her hair to grow down to her waist, which she will wear plaited with a red ribbon woven through it. Lysenda's worshippers all carry a small set of reed pipes and some of the richer members of her congregation will have pipes of silver or gold. These pipes are played during the wild dances of her religious celebrations.

Deity: LYSENDA

Attitude: Chaotic and benevolent Portfolio: Dance, love and music

Totem: Deer

Symbol: A set of reed pipes

Appearance:

Lysenda is the most beautiful of the Gods, a slim elf-like figure with a face carved of what seems like porcelain. Her golden brown tresses drop in waves to her waist, over the light crimson coloured chiffon robe that she wears. Her green eyes glisten at the sound of music, and she will often join wild dances when no one is fully aware of her presence. When she joins such a dance she will fling herself into the beat of the music with wild abandon, and spin as a dervish, her robe billowing out around her before she vanishes as the music reaches its crescendo.

Church of Urto

Originally, the nomadic tribes of Urtind were totemistic in religion with each tribe worshipping a particular animal and with a tribal shaman providing the priesthood for the members of that nomadic tribe.

When the Bear Tribe became the supreme tribe, the King of the tribe, Bara Ursine, was also the tribe's Shaman. When his wife give birth to twin sons, he prepared to separate rulership from religion by bestowing one of the twins with rulership and the other with the priesthood. The Ursine family then became split into two branches - the Royal and the Religious.

Shortly after the splitting of the family, the grandson of the first King, Aldo Ursine, was struck blind and dumb for five years. When he recovered, he was imbued with a glow and he began to write new religious teachings. These scriptures advocated the fact that Beleryn was the only power in the heavens and that the other Gods drew their power from her. The animal totems, he wrote, were manifestations of Beleryn's descendants and, as such, were further aspects of her power. This belief formed the cornerstone of the Church of Urto and continues today.

Aldo made many prophecies which have come to pass. These were written down and became known as the Ursine Scriptures. As belief in Beleryn and that she was the sole power in the heavens began to spread, a church developed.

In his 67th year, Aldo Ursine, was made Leader of the Urtish Church, which over the years became known as the Church of Urto. (Aldo Ursine was murdered by Orcs when he reached the age of 72). Word of these teachings began to spread, and they even gained some acceptance in the Taraj Empire.

Despite the loss of the Southern Baronies and the subsequent fall of the Urtish Empire, the Church of Urto retained its base in Urtind, and the Primate of Urtind is still regarded as its overall leader of the church.

As the Church grew it realised it would need protection, so it sponsored the formation of religious military orders. The first one created was the Order of the Blue Rose. Its emblem being a blue rose on a white background. They were a small order, limited to 1,200 members, sworn to supporting the Rose Prophecy and dedicated to providing elite troops for the eventual quest when it came.

The second required more members in its role as protector of the Church of Urto. The Order of the Bear, whose symbol is a golden bear rampant on a black background, was created to provide a fighting order to protect the Church from attack and to guard pilgrims on the road, who were travelling from one religious community to another.

A third order in existence is located outside the Kingdom of Urtind. This is the Order of the Chalice, named after the goblet that Edwas used to anoint new converts to the faith and whose emblem is a golden chalice on a red background. Its purpose is to assist priests in bringing new converts to the faith and it protects those priests who have gone on missionary duties outside the boundaries of Urtind.

The priests of the Church of Urto are able to cast Acts of Faith as ordained priests. They wear flowing robes with a tabard. The robes are always white but the colour of the tabard relates to their rank within the Church. The lowest ordained priests wear simple brown tabards and may only cast Acts of Faith to Rank 2. The next level in the Church's hierarchy are Bishops who wear green tabards and are able to cast Acts of Faith to Rank 6. Above them are Primates (the leaders of the church in a particular realm), who wear red tabards, and the Holy Revorn (the Primate of Urtind) who wears a blue robe with a white tabard. Both the Holy Revorn and the Primates are able to cast Acts of Faith to Rank 7. Emblazoned upon the tabards, regardless of level, is the image of a phoenix in gold.

Deity: BELERYN

Attitude: Law-abiding, merciful and benevolent Portfolio: Birth, children, justice, marriage, nature and rulership

Totem: Phoenix

Symbol: A child holding a sceptre and scales

Appearance:

If Beleryn deigns to reveal herself to a worshipper, she will normally appear as a beautiful mature woman, over 6' tall and muscular in build. Her hair is fiery red, which seems to glow with sunlight, and reaches to her waist. She tends to appear barefoot, wearing a floor length green robe which is tied at the waist with a girdle of flowers. In her left hand she carries the "Scales of Justice" and in her right hand, the "Sceptre of Rulership". Those who have been blessed by a vision of Beleryn, have never been able to fully describe her beauty which somehow mirrors nature and harmony itself.

CHARACTER GENERATION

All characters for the Heroes of Marakush campaign are human (further races may be added at a later stage). All character generation follows the rules as given in Chivalry & Sorcery: The Rebirth role-playing game.

These guidelines only detail those sections of the rules that are specific to the Heroes of Marakush campaign. The full Chivalry & Sorcery: The Rebirth rules are required along side these guidelines.

The method used for creating characters is a points-based method where points are used to purchase attributes and other personality traits. Each character begins with 150 points. All attributes cost the character points. However, personality traits can either cost the character points (represented by negative numbers) or gain points for the character (represented by positive numbers).

The steps to creating a character are as follows:

- 1 Determine the Birth Omens
- 2 Determine Personal Attributes
- 3 Determine PC's Background Social Class and Social Status
- 4 Determine the PC's Sibling Rank
- 5 Determine the PC's Family Status
- 6 Determine "The Curse" (if required)
- 7 Determine Special Talents or Abilities
- 8 Determine Deficiencies or Defects
- 9 Determine Personal Fears
- 10 Determine Character Size
- 11 Determine Body Points, Recovery Rates etc.
- 12 Determine Fatigue Points, Recovery Rates etc.
- 13 Determine Lifting & Carrying Capacity
- 14 Determine Jumping Ability
- 15 Determine Movement Rates
- 16 Determine Birth Horoscope
- 17 Determine Character Age
- 18 Determine Personalising Character Traits

STEP 1 - DIVINE THE BIRTH OMENS

The inhabitants of Marakush believe that supernatural forces have a major influence on their destinies. Such influences are represented by Aspect.

To determine the character's birth omens:

- 1 Default to a Neutrally Aspected character (at no PC point cost), or
- 2 Elect to pay the appropriate PC Points cost as indicated in Table 1.1a Marakush Birth Omens for a Well or Poorly Aspected character.

Well Aspected: Your character was touched by supernatural forces and has a strong affinity to Magick.

Aspect	PC Points <sup>1</sup>
Well Aspected	-10
Neutrally Aspected	0
Poorly Aspected	+10
<sup>1</sup> Postive numbers show the number of additional points gained if chosen, whilst negative numbers show the number of points that must be spent to obtain this Aspec

TABLE 1.1A - MARAKUSH - BIRTH OMENS

Neutrally Aspected: There is no strong magical presence in a character's blood. He has a Magick Resistance (MR) of 10%.

Poorly Aspected: Dark Forces actively oppose your character or certain supernatural forces have taken an unhealthy interest in him. This does not make him Evil! Indeed, he may be destined to fight against Evil and due to this has attracted the active hostility of Dark Forces. Again, some prophecy divined at birth might be introduced.

At least one Curse afflicts a Poorly Aspected PC. However, being Poorly Aspected also bestows a powerful affinity to Magick.

STEP 2 - DETERMINE PERSONAL ATTRIBUTES

Attributes are characteristics that define the overall nature and general capabilities of every character. The higher an Attribute, the more a character enjoys the benefits of various enhancements to learning and performing skills affected by that Attribute. Similarly, low Attributes may result in the impairment of a character's ability to learn and practice his skills.

The Nine Personal Attributes:

Agility (AGIL)	Strength (STR)	Constitution (CON)
Intellect (INT)	Wisdom (WIS)	Discipline (DISC)
Bardic Voice (BV)	Appearance (APP)	Piety (PTY)

Agility (AGIL): This is a measure of a character's grace and dexterity.

Intellect (INT): This measures a character's ability to understand various situations, concentrate, to reason and to remember.

Bardic Voice (BV): This measures a character's ability to speak eloquently, sing etc.

Strength (STR): This measures the raw power of a character's body.

Wisdom (WIS): This measures a character's judgement and insight into the deeper significance of things than might be apparent on the surface.

Appearance (APP): This measures a character's physical attractiveness.

Constitution (CON): This is a measure of how healthy and durable a character is.

Discipline (DISC): This measures your character's patience and ability to remain focused on a subject or goal.

Piety (PTY): This measures a character's religious faith or belief.

Table 1.2a - Marakush - Attribute Levels, Points Cost and Success Chance gives the points cost for each attribute. Each attribute must have a minumum level of 02 and can be a maximum level of 22.

Attribute Level	Points Cost	Success Chance (SC%)	Attribute Level	Points Cost	Success Chance (SC%)
2	2	20%	13	13	70%
3	3	25%	14	14	73%
4	4	30%	15	15	76%
5	5	35%	16	17	79%
6	6	40%	17	19	82%
7	7	45%	18	21	85%
8	8	50%	19	23	88%
9	9	54%	20	25	90%
10	10	58%	21	27	92%
11	11	62%	22	29	94%
12	12	66%

Table 1.2a – Marakush - Attribute Levels, Points Cost and Success Chance

STEP 3 – PC BACKGROUNDS

Status is everything in Chivalry & Sorcery games and this is no different in the world of Marakush. Status decides who is the most important, who has the most power etc. Social mobility is difficult but not impossible. Tables 1.3b to 1.3e – Marakush - Father's Social Status establish the rank of one's father in feudal society, which determines a PC's initial status in the social order. In feudal society, you were treated the way your father was, with little consideration for any superior personal merit you might have.

The first step in determining a Chivalry & Sorcery character's background is to arrive at his general social class. Social class has a very important effect on who your character is, what he will know, and what he might or might not be able to do.

STEP 3A - DETERMINE PC'S SOCIAL CLASS

Players may choose to do one of the following:

- 1 Default to Rural Freeman or Townsman class, or
- 2 Pay the required number of PC Points to purchase the class required as shown in Table 1.3a - Marakush - Social Class.

Social Class	PC Points <sup>1</sup>
Rural Freeman	0
Townsman	0
Guildsman	-4
Landless Knight	-6

TABLE 1.3A - MARAKUSH - SOCIAL CLASS

STEP 3B - DETERMINE FATHER'S VOCATION & SOCIAL STATUS

This determines the character's precise family background. It establishes the vocation and social status of the PC's father and hence the character's childhood experiences, his basic social status and background skills.

Tables 1.3b to 1.3e – Marakush - Father's Vocation determine the vocation and social status of a PC's father (or maternal grandfather if the character is illegitimate and unacknowledged). He enjoys his father's basic social status on entering the campaign. Circumstances may change later. He might win honours and a rise in social rank, promotion to high office, etc.

The father's vocation may be selected from the tables at no PC Point cost. However, as in the full Chivalry & Sorcery: The Rebirth rules this is always rolled randomly, this option is also open to the player. In this instance, roll 1D100 and compare the result to the appropriate table.

Regardless of their social status, all PCs will have a basic knowledge of Brawling, and they are also considered to be reasonably fluent in their native tongue (spoken). Those PCs with INT 12+ will also start with a basic knowledge of Counting.

Female characters may start out with one or more typical female skills instead of Brawling. If the character is of a class below that of Guildsman, replace Brawling with two of the following skills, Cooking, Sewing or Weaving. However, if the character is of the Guildsman class or higher, then replace Brawling with Etiquette and one of the following, Cooking, Sewing or Weaving.

Rural Freemen

This group consists of all Freemen living in the rural part of the feudal nation. These include craftsmen (Miller, Baker, Blacksmith etc.), labourers (with little or no land), poor farmers through to wealthy farmers and Stockmen, Foresters, Fishermen, etc.

TABLE 1.3c - MARAKUSH - FATHER'S VOCATION - TOWNSMEN

Characters might elect to follow an alternate occupation to the one followed by their father, it should be remembered that tradition often dictated that a person do as his father did! One reason family background skills are "inherited" by characters comes from this simple fact. In youth, such a character would have been taught such skills in the expectation that he would follow in Father's footsteps.

Freeman characters may increase three of their skills in which they have basic knowledge by one level and gain +2 Action Points.

Liveried Retainers are freemen serving in the household of the local lord.

Freed Men are freed serfs. Many are in liveried service to their lord. These include PCs who have rolled 01-25% against Table 1.5b - Marakush -Father's Vocation - Freeman and were accepted into higher vassalage by Yeomen (or Yoman in Middle English) are essentially an English term, which we use to identify a special group of freeborn residents of the countryside who own smallholdings. The term Freemen is a good substitute.

Freeholders are "yeomen" who own about 20-40 acres of land "in fee simple," meaning they can sell it and do not have to pay rent.

Petit Sergeants are well-to-do yeomen, typically large farm owners or stockbreeders with incomes able to maintain a horse and arms. Although freeholders with 40-60 acres of land or more, they usually still have feudal obligations to bear arms on behalf of the local lord when called upon to do so.

Townsmen: Urban Freemen

Townsmen are commoners forming the majority of urban dwellers and know how to deal with the urban scene. They are small businessmen, employees, and labourers who do the non-skilled and low-skilled tasks in the town. They range from lowly beggars, labourers, barmaids and servants to peddlers and stall-keepers. Their social status is comparable to that of lower-ranking Rural Freemen.

Townsmen gain +3 to their Agility Attribute up to the racial maximum, in addition they can increase five skills in which they have basic knowledge by one level.

The Guildsmen: Leading Freemen of the Towns

Guildsmen form small but important and influential groups who carry out most of the trade and the manufacturing in the feudal state. The leading citizens of towns are wealthy merchants, master craftsmen, and professionals with social status ratings of 18+. This group comprises the skilled craftsmen of the town and is expected to maintain the good name and the secrets of their respective guilds.

Apart from the multitude of crafts and trades, Wizards and Priests are included in this social group. Guildsmen may bear arms, although some do not need to. It may be that some towns require Guildsmen to serve in the town watch, the militia, or even pay to hire mercenaries to protect the town.

Guildsman can increase seven skills in which they have basic knowledge by one level.

Any PC with such an influential background is well connected (provided he stays in his father's good graces and can count on his influence). Lesser Guildsmen (not designated as "Mstr." for "Masters") are generally skilled employees, known as Journeymen, and are not licensed to open their own establishments. Professionals (e.g. Sages, Mages, Physicians, Scribes, Apothecaries, Ship-owners, etc.) are all considered as "Masters".

TABLE 1.3E - MARAKUSH - FATHER'S VOCATION - LANDLESS KNIGHTS

The Feudal Gentry

Squires, Knights (including Unlanded Knights), and others of "gentle" blood form the Gentry of feudal society.

All "gentle" PC's gain +3 Action Points and enjoy a -1 DF bonus to the skills of Courtly Love and Renown.

Basic Chivalric Training includes Riding, Riding a Warhorse, Mounted Combat, Cavalry Lance, 2 other Combat skills, Wearing Armour, plus Courtly Manners. He might also have Reading if the INT requirement is met (this is usually due to instruction by a Priest who notices the character's promise or at the orders of the Lord).

Landless Knights

Knights-Errant were "lordless" and hoped to enter the service of some great lord and perhaps win the grant of a fief. Some became mercenaries in Free Companies or fought in the Tournament circuit for prizes and ransoms. Some were Knights on great and dangerous quests that took them to strange and distant places.

Landless Knights in Service were Chivalric Household Troops of some feudal lord. If they distinguished themselves and earned their lord's favour, they might one day receive a fief.

STEP 4 - DETERMINE SIBLING RANK

We assume the character is the youngest of up to 6 legitimate children if you choose not to roll D100 dice. If you do roll, there will be 1/3 D10 (round down) or 1-3 siblings younger than your PC.

In order to determine the character's position in the family, players may chose to do one of the following:

- 1 Default to the youngest of 6 legitimate children, or
- 2 Pay the number of PC Points needed to purchase the sibling rank required as shown in Table 1.4a Marakush Sibling Rank.

To determine if one's siblings are male or female, roll D10 for each sibling in the family: Odd = Male, Even = Female.

PC's Sibling Rank in Family	PC Points
Illegitimate and unacknowledged offspring <sup>1</sup>	+5
Illegitimate and acknowledged offspring <sup>2</sup>	+3
6th child	-
5th child	-1
4th child	-2
3rd child	-3
2nd child	-4
1st child	-5

If a character is illegitimate and unacknowledged by the father, then the character's Social Status will be one quarter of his father's Social Status (rounding down).

If a character is illegitimate but acknowledged by the father, then the character's Social Status will be three quarters of his father's Social Status (rounding down).

TABLE 1.4A - MARAKUSH - SIBLING RANK

STEP 5 - STATUS IN ONE'S FAMILY

This step determines how much a PC is in or out of favour with the head of his family. It will affect the amount of influence that might be exerted on his behalf, family support he can expect, and also his initial status in society.

In order to determine a PC's status in his family, players may elect to do one of the following:

- 1 Default to "Credit to the Family" status without incurring a penalty, or
- 2 Pay the appropriate PC Points cost for the required status, as shown in Table 1.5a Marakush Family Status.

Note: If the PC is an heir (any character first in line to inherit the family titles, lands and fortune) adds a bonus of +21% to the D100 dice roll.

Family Status	PC Points
Black Sheep	+5
Credit to the Family	-
Good Son/Daughter	-5

TABLE 1.5A - MARAKUSH - FAMILY STATUS

Black Sheep: The PC is badly out of favour and banished from the family until he redeems himself. The PC receives only three-quarters of his normal status (minimum 03 Status Points) and can not call upon the head of the family to exert influence on his behalf. If the heir, then he had been disinherited and cast out as a shameful disgrace. The PC receives only half the usual starting funds available to him.

Credit to the Family: The PC is a dutiful offspring who has fulfilled all expectations. Although welcome at home and able to count on the support of his family, the PC prefers to seek his fortune in the world. The character is always able to return home to a warm welcome, and any friends he brings with him will also be assured of the same warm welcome. The PC begins with the usual amount of starting funds. In addition, if the heir of a family who are of gentile status, he will be equipped with suitable arms, armour and a war horse befitting the family's station if he elects to follow a knightly vocation.

Good Son/Daughter: The favourite of the head of the family regardless of their sibling rank. The PC is always welcome at home and may count on the full support of the family in whatever vocation chosen. The PC begins with twice the usual starting funds to reflect a doting father. In addition, if the heir of a family who are of gentile status, he will be equipped with suitable arms, armour and a war horse befitting the family's status if he elects to follow a knightly vocation.

Note: For Table 1.6a - Marakush - Curses on page 6.

Poorly Aspected PC's must roll 1D100 against Table 1.6a – Marakush - Curses. Remember how the omens warned at the PC's birth that powerful forces might be at work opposing him? A Curse lying upon the character is part of the outcome of that less than auspicious beginning.

Neutrally Aspected and Well-Aspected PC's do not have to roll for a Curse unless it is indicated they must do so later on. However, a player can always opt for his character having a Curse in order to make things "interesting". In such an instance, roll randomly or be allowed to choose the Curse you want for the PC. A player who decides to roll for or select a Curse voluntarily gains a bonus of +5 PC Points.

If multiple bites occur, there is a 13% chance the reaction will increase to the next level, i.e. a mild reaction will become serious etc. A severe reaction will have 13% chance of proving fatal.

There is a 13% chance of the reaction increasing one level, i.e. a mild reaction may prove serious. A severe reaction has a 13% chance of proving fatal, and a 33% chance of completely incapacitating the victim.

TABLE 1.7A - MARAKUSH - SPECIAL ABILITIES & TALENTS

STEP 7 - SPECIAL TALENTS & ABILITIES

To determine if your character has any special abilities or talents, you may choose to do one of the following:

- 1 Elect to have no special talents or abilities, or
- 2 Purchase up to 3 special talents or abilities at the appropriate PC Points cost as shown in Table 1.7a Marakush Special Abilities & Talents.

Note: Any PC who decides that their character has a special ability or talent, must also posses a Flaw. Even if the PC possess several special abilities or talents, they need only possess a minimum of one flaw (refer to Step 8 – Character Flaws, Deficiencies & Defects).

Special abilities in bold face are limited to Well Aspected and Poorly Aspected characters.

Special abilities denoted (w) are limited to Well Aspected characters only.

For further information on the various special abilities, refer to Chivalry & Sorcery: The Rebirth - Vol. 1 Core Rules.

Step 8 - Character Flaws, Deficiencies & Defects

A player may elect to have any number of flaws up to a maximum of +25 PC Points gained as shown in Table 1.8a - Marakush - Flaws on *page 8*overleaf.

Note: Characters who possess a special talent or ability must have a Flaw to their character so gain one Flaw without gaining any PC Points. Should they then decide to have further Flaws, they may gain PC Points as above.

For detailed descriptions of the deficiencies and defects and hints on how they can affect role-play, see Chivalry & Sorcery: The Rebirth - Vol. 1 Core Rules..

TABLE 1.8A - MARAKUSH - FLAWS

STEP 9 – PERSONAL FEARS

Phobias provide for a potentially fatal "Achilles' Heel" and may force a character to act in a certain way under "fearful" conditions.

Any player desiring a Phobia for his character can either:

- 1 Roll a 1D100 and compare the result with Table 1.9a Marakush Phobias, or
- 2 Select a Phobia from those listed in Table 1.9a Marakush Phobias. There is no cost or gain of PC Points for electing to have a Phobia, it only needs to be something you can role-play well.

Note: If the character obtained a Phobia earlier in the character generation process (either as a curse or flaw) it does not preclude the player electing to have a further Phobia at this stage. It is the player's choice.

Morale Check vs Fear & Phobias

When exposed to conditions that might render a PC or NPC fearful, he must succeed with a "morale check" to deal with fear.

Whenever a character is exposed to an experience that might produce fear in him, he will need to make a standard morale check in the form of a roll against his Willpower skill:

- When confronted by a minor phobia, the character is required to make a Willpower roll at 3/4 TSC%.
- When confronted by a major phobia, the character is required to make a Willpower roll at 1/2 TSC%.
- If a person has a phobia, a Fear spell has an effect equivalent to his being exposed to whatever it is that really scares him! Consequently, he resists at a limited capacity, dependant on the level of his Phobia.
- 4 If a person does not have a phobia, he resists a Fear spell with a Willpower roll at his full TSC%.
- Highly self-disciplined characters may be able to maintain inner control even when confronted with terrible fear. Characters with DISC 16+ may elect to employ 3/4 of their Discipline AR% instead of making a Willpower roll.
- Pious lay characters may be able to maintain inner control even when confronted with Fear emanating from supernatural creatures or magical Fear by relying upon their faith that a higher power will protect them. Characters with PTY 13+ may elect to employ 2/3 of their Piety AR% instead of making a Willpower roll.

TABLE 1.9A - MARAKUSH - PHOBIAS

Step 10 - Determine Character Size

DETERMINE CHARACTER'S HEIGHT

The player has the choice of the following:

- 1 Roll the Height Die (for male characters this is 2D10 + 62, and for female characters this is 2D10 + 59) to give the Height Factor. This is the PC's height in inches, or
- 2 Default to the average height for the PC (for males this is 73 inches and for female character's 70 inches), or
- 3 Pay 5 PC Points to increase or decrease the PC's average height by up to 6 inches.

Modified Roll	Build	Weight Modifier
Less than 1	Very Light Build	Reduce weight by 30%
1	Very Light Build	Reduce weight by 25%
2	Light Build	Reduce weight by 20%
3	Light Build	Reduce weight by 15%
4	Average Build	Reduce weight by 5%
5	Average Build	No change in basic weight
6	Average Build	Increase weight by 5%
7	Heavy Build	Increase weight by 10%
8	Heavy Build	Increase weight by 15%
9	Heavy Build	Increase weight by 20%
10	Massive Build	Increase weight by 25%
11	Massive Build	Increase weight by 30%
12	Massive Build	Increase weight by 35%
13 & over	Massive Build	Increase weight by 40%

TABLE 1.10A - MARAKUSH - WEIGHT MODIFIERS

Example:

Sue decides to use the default height and build, but decides to modify them by spending some of her PC Points. Her female character has an basic height of 5 10" and build of 04. She decides to spend 5 PC Points to increase her height by 4" so making her height 6' 2". (She could have added a maximum of 6" but decided 4" was enough). At this modified height, her weight will be 171 lbs (her basic weight of 180 lbs less 5% for her 04 Build Factor = 171 lbs). Sue decides that this is a little too heavy for her character, so she decides to spend a further 5 PC Points to decrease her Build Factor to 03. This means her weight will now be 153 lbs (180 lbs less 15% for her 03 Build Factor = 153 lbs). Therefore at a cost of 10 PC Points, Sue has a character of height 6' 2" and weight 153 lbs.

DETERMINE CHARACTER'S BUILD

The player has the choice of the following:

- 1 Roll the Build Die (for male characters this is 1D10 + 2, and for female characters this is 1D10 1) and if applicable, modify the result by the following:
  - If a PC has Agility 15-19, reduce the result by -1
  - If a PC has Agility 20+, reduce the result by -2
  - If a PC has Constitution 15-19, increase the result by +1
  - If a PC has Constitution 20+, increase the result by +2

This will give you the PC's Build Factor, or

- 2 Default to the average build for the PC (for males this is 07 = Heavy, and for fermales this is 04 = Average), or
- 3 Pay 5 PC Points to increase or decrease the PC's Build Factor by one level. The Build Factor can be modified by a maximum of 3 levels.

DETERMINE CHARACTER'S WEIGHT

The basic Weight (WT) of any character is 10 lbs plus 5 lbs for every inch in height over 40 inches. To modify this in respect of the PC's build compare the PC's Build Factor to Table 1.10a – Marakush - Weight Modifiers and amend the basic weight calculation by the given percentages (rounding up any fractions).

STEP 11 - DETERMINE CHARACTER BODY POINTS

Body is a "secondary" characteristic arising from Constitution, body mass, etc., and represents the amount of physical damage that a PC may sustain.

DETERMINING BASIC BODY POINTS

To find your character's Body Points:

- 1 Add Body from Table 1.11a Marakush Weight Factor
- 2 Add Constitution attribute
- 3 Add 1/2 Strength attribute (rounded down)

Weight (lbs)	Body	Weight (lbs)	Body	Weight (lbs)	Body
Under 44	10	129-144	18	278-300	26
45-53	11	145-160	19	301-324	27

114-128	17	257-278	25	456-484	33

TABLE 1.11A - MARAKUSH - WEIGHT FACTOR

RECOVERING BODY POINTS

The Body Recovery Rate (BRR) or the rate at which a character recovers lost Body Points through natural healing. Table 1.11b – Marakush - Body Recovery Rates shows the percentage of Body Points recovered each day (rounded up) and depends on the level of a character's Constitution.

CON	Descriptor	Total Rest per day	Lt. Activity per day	Active per day	Resist Disease (RD%)
02	Sickly	1%	0%	0%	30%
03	Infirm	2%	1%	0%	40%

17	Vigorous	8%	5%	3%	94%
18	Dynamic	8%	5%	3%	96%
19	Vibrant	8%	5%	3%	97%
20	Vital	9%	6%	3%	98%
21+	Weatherproof	10%	6%	4%	99%

TABLE 1.11B - MARAKUSH - BODY RECOVERY RATES (BRR)

Only complete Body Points are restored at the beginning of the next day following a day of rest and recuperation. No character recovers Body Points if strenuously active.

Note: It is possible to have a Body Recovery Rate of less than 1 Body Point per day. In those instances, round to the nearest 0.25 Body Point.

Computations need to be done once. Record them on the character's Profile Sheet for future reference to save yourself having to continually recalculate them.

NEGATIVE BODY LIMITS

When a character's Body is reduced to negative values, he is not necessarily dead. One can sustain negative damage up to his CON and still remain alive, although deeply unconscious. When Body Points fall below a negative level equal to or lower than CON then death occurs.

RESIST DISEASE (RD%)

Resist Disease (RD%) is the normal chance a PC has of either being immune to or else fighting off an infection. A PC's RD% can be modified by the nature of the disease, the circumstances, etc. Table 1.13b – Body Recovery Rates shows the basic RD% possible.

Step 12 - Determine Character Fatigue Points

Fatigue represents a character's endurance and his energy levels. Fatigue is measured in Fatigue Points (FP).

DETERMINING BASIC FATIGUE POINTS

To calculate your PC's Fatigue Points:

- 1 Add Constitution and Strength, or
- 2 Add Constitution and Discipline

RECOVERING FATIGUE POINTS

A PC uses up energy quickly in highly stressful situations, particularly in combat or the practice of magick. The rate a PC "recharges" personal energy levels is the Fatigue Recovery Rate (FRR). The level of Constitution that a PC possesses reflects how quickly he can recover.

The amount of Fatigue Points regained after 10 minutes of rest, as shown in Table 1.12a - Marakush - Fatigue Recovery Rates is the amount of Fatigue Points recoved in the first 10 minutes of rest following any form of activity. This requres the individual PC to simply sit and do nothing, gradually "getting his breath back".

A PC can extend this resting period up to a maximum of 1 hour and still recover some Fatigue Points. The recovery rate after the first 10 minutes of rest is 1 FP per 10 minutes of additional rest for a PC with CON 15 or less and 2 FP per 10 minutes of additional rest for a PC with CON 16+. If the PC wishes to recover more he needs to sleep. A character can then recover Fatigue Points at the sleeping rate which has no maximum period for sleep.

CON	Sleep 1 hour	Rest 10 min	CON	Sleep 1 hour	Rest 10 min
01-06	5 FP	2 FP	18	10 FP	7 FP
07-10	6 FP	3 FP	19	12 FP	8 FP
11-13	7 FP	4 FP	20	13 FP	9 FP
14-15	8 FP	5 FP	21+	15 FP	10 FP
16-17	9 FP	6 FP

Table 1.12a - Marakush - Fatigue Recovery Rates (FRR)

STEP 13 - DETERMINE CHARACTER LIFTING & CARRYING CAPACITY

LIFTING CAPACITY (LCAP)

Lifting Capacity (LCAP) is the weight a character can lift over his head. To determine a character's lifting ability, compare his Strength rating to Body weight as shown in Table 1.13a – Marakush - Strength/Body Ratio.

STR	LCAP	STR	LCAP
02	5 lbs + 25% of Body Weight	17	5 lbs + 140% of Body Weight
03	5 lbs + 30% of Body Weight	18	5 lbs + 150% of Body Weight
04	5 lbs + 35% of Body Weight	19	5 lbs + 160% of Body Weight
05	5 lbs + 35% of Body Weight	20	5 lbs + 170% of Body Weight
06	5 lbs + 40% of Body Weight	21	5 lbs + 180% of Body Weight
07	5 lbs + 50% of Body Weight	22	5 lbs + 190% of Body Weight
08	5 lbs + 60% of Body Weight	23	5 lbs + 200% of Body Weight
09	5 lbs + 70% of Body Weight	24	5 lbs + 210% of Body Weight
10	5 lbs + 80% of Body Weight	25	5 lbs + 225% of Body Weight
11	5 lbs + 90% of Body Weight	26	5 lbs + 250% of Body Weight
12	5 lbs + 100% of Body Weight	27	5 lbs + 300% of Body Weight
13	5 lbs + 105% of Body Weight	28	5 lbs + 350% of Body Weight
14	5 lbs + 110% of Body Weight	29	5 lbs + 400% of Body Weight
15	5 lbs + 120% of Body Weight	30	5 lbs + 450% of Body Weight
16	5 lbs + 130% of Body Weight	31	5 lbs + 500% of Body Weight

TABLE 1.13A - MARAKUSH - STRENGTH/BODY RATIO

CARRYING CAPACITY (CCAP)

Not only in modern times but also throughout history, infantry carried a burden of 50 to 100 lbs of armaments, ammunition and equipment. In good condition and with the weight properly distributed by a decent backpack, etc., infantry can march for many miles under that load over all manner of terrain!

To reflect this, Carrying Capacity is calculated as 1/2 x LCAP (rounding up).

Step 14 - Determine Characters Jumping Ability

All characters are capable of jumping across a distance. However, how far they can jump depends on their Strength, Agility, racial characteristics, and the load they are bearing. Distances may be improved by the Athletic skill of Jumping.

The character's Jump is calculated as 2 feet + 1/4 x (STR + AGIL).

Step 15 - Determine Characters Movement

DETERMINING BASE ACTION POINTS (BAP)

Base Action Points (BAP) determines what can be done in a given period of time. BAP is found by considering either purely physical capabilities or a combination of physical and mental capacity. Apply the more advantageous of the following methods:

- 1 Add Agility and Constitution, then divide by 2, or
- 2 Add Agility and Intellect, then divide by 2

Round fractions down when computing Base Action Points (BAP). Include all levels possessed in AGIL even if over AGIL 20 but the maximum that can be included for INT or CON levels is INT 20 and CON 20.

TABLE 1.16A - MARAKUSH - BIRTH SIGNS & SYMBOLS

Step 16 - Determine Characters Horoscope

CASTING THE HOROSCOPE

The player may elect to either:

- 1 Roll a 1D100 and compare the result to Table 1.16a Marakush Birth Signs & Skills, or
- 2 Pay -10 PC Points to choose the Birth Sign desired.

BIRTH SIGN SKILLS

Each Birth Sign favours two skill categories and a player may choose either:

- 1 Two skills from one of the two favoured categories, or
- 2 One skill from each of the favoured categories.

If one of the auspicious skills selected if one of the PC's primary vocational skills then the skill is considered as Mastered at -2 DF with basic knowledge and +2 levels of skill (this is a "free" Mastery slot). If the auspicious skill is not part of his primary vocational skills, the PC still has basic knowledge and +2 levels, but only improves the skill at a bonus of -1 DF. This choice includes Modes and Methods of Magick for Materia Magica.

Success Bonuses for Having Well Aspected Skills

A Well Aspected PC enjoys a +5% TSC bonus to any skills in categories favoured by his Birth Sign.

TABLE 1.17A - MARAKUSH - PC AGE

STEP 17 - CHARACTER AGE

Within the Heroes of Marakush, it is age which determines a character's starting experience. These rules enable a character to start either younger or older than the base age of 18 years.

A player has the opportunity to:

- 1 Default to the base age of 18, or
- 2 Pay the appropriate amount of PC Points as shown in Table 1.17a Marakush PC Age to select the character age required.

The experience points obtained can be spent on skills etc. and may result in the character starting higher than Level 1.

Step 18 - Determine Character's Personalising Traits

A character becomes more of an individual the more a "personalises" him. Remember in Chivalry & Sorcery, especially in the Heroes of Marakush the more detail, the better!

NAMING THE PLAYER CHARACTER

Names are important. When choosing a name for your character, consider what you are trying to say about him or her. In the Heroes of Marakush campaign, characters initially come from the Kingdom of Solda. Names of characters from Solda should have a Germanic sound but this is not exclusive. In the end, it is the player's choice! He has to live with it!

PERSONAL FOIBLES

While a character might not start with any behaviours or habits that become "hallmarks" of his personality, keep it in mind that most people do tend to have a distinct voice, maybe an accent or favourite expressions, pet peeves, particular preferences in clothing, food, drink etc. As you role-play your character, you might note down all the things that make him truly individual and unique and try to build these into your role-playing repertoire.

VOCATIONS

In the Heroes of Marakush campaign characters are restricted to the following vocations:

Warriors
Knights (Landless)
Sergeants-at-arms & Petit
Sergeants

Common Men-at-arms

Physicians & Heralds

Mages

Guild of Esoteric Lore:
Diviners

Enchanters Hex Masters Thaumaturges

Priests

Friars - Church of Urto Monastics - Church of Urto Ordained Clergy - Church of Urto & Temple of Tyrith

Religious Fighting Order

Knights Chaplains Thieves

Burglars Beggars Cut-purses

Ancient Order of Elemental Magic (Secretive Order: Elementalists - Air, Earth, Fire

and Water

Priest Mages

Witches Druids

A character begins play with level 0 in his background skills, in addition they also receive these common skills that can also be regarded as Background skills unless listed under the vocation as Primary Skills.

Alertness - Sight Language - Spoken (Own) Stamina
Alertness - Sound Local Geography Willpower
Dodge Brawling Faith

A character receives 10 skills from his vocational list at level 1. At least 6 of these must be from his primary skill. Where a character has combat skills listed, then all of these combat skills are classed as vocational, but the number that a character can choose to start with is limited to the number shown.

Primary (or Vocational) Skills

Primary or Vocational Skills are skills that are essential to the vocation chosen by the character. The PC learns Primary Skills at a Difficulty Factor (DF) of –1 DF.

All Primary Skills can become Mastered Skills (qv) so giving the PC further benefits.

Secondary Skills

Secondary Skills may also form part of the character's vocation but they are not considered as practised or as necessary as Primary Skills.

Secondary Skills can also become Mastered Skills (qv) so giving the PC additional benefits.

Tertiary (or Hobby) Skills

A character also has a number of Tertiary (or Hobby) Skills which are the characters pastimes. They are learnt at an increased Difficulty Factor (DF) of +1 DF. These Tertiary Skills can be used on a regular basis throughout the game. It may transpire that any regularly used Tertiary Skills can be promoted to Secondary Skills. The number of starting Tertiary skills are as follows:

Total of	Tertiary
INT + DISC	Skills
Under 20	1
20-29	2
30-35	3
36-39	4

TABLE 2.1 - NUMBER OF TERTIARY SKILLS

Mastered Skills

A character may no assign his 5 mastery slots. Mastered Skills gain a bonus of –1 DF to its learning and improving rates. In addition, a player will gain one additional level in skills that are initially mastered when selecting his ten starting skills, therefore any such Primary (or Vocational) Skills begin at Level 2 and –2 DF and any Background and Secondary skills begin at Level 1 and –1 DF when mastered.

5A character of noble background and with INT 14+ and WIS 14+ will learn Battlefield Tactics at -2 DF and need not select it for Mastery. This is a part of his fundamental training as a membership of the feudal leadership class and because his intellectual capabilities alone enable him to master the skill.

TABLE 2.2 - VOCATIONAL SKILLS - KNIGHTS (LANDLESS)

<sup>2</sup>Animal Riding must be selected as the first skill chosen for Mastery. Characters qualified by birth and background to become feudal Sergeants have basic knowledge.

<sup>3</sup>Mounted Combat must be the second skill selected for Mastery. It was the Sergeants role to fight alongside his Knight! It was not enough to have fighting prowess, his identity as a mounted warrior was based on his prowess in the saddle.

<sup>4</sup>Knight only combat skills are restricted to Ride a Warhorse, Wear Battle Armour and Cavalry Lance. Sergeants-at-Arms would be more likely to have Knightly Secondary Skills than Petit Sergeants would because they have a greater chance of obtaining regular training in them.

TABLE 2.5 - VOCATIONAL SKILLS - FORESTERS

THIEVISH VOCATIONS

any four Outdoor Skills.

One of the favourite vocational classes in role-playing has been the "Thief". However, this vocation has been badly abused.

Again, a distinction should be made between the vocation of "Thief" and the occupation. To choose the vocation of Thief is to elect for proficiency in skills that enable one to engage in "shady" behaviour even if he is not a "thief" by occupation. For example, a character might follow the occupation of travelling minstrel and acquire skills like playing musical instruments. However, he chooses the vocation of "Thief" to develop proficiency in skills enabling him to augment his living with what he might be able to "pick up" here and there from "good" citizens who are less than vigilant.

All thievish characters receive the following basic Primary (Vocational) Skills at level 0 at no cost. However, in addition each of the specialist types of thief has their own special areas of competence.

Enchanter

Primary Attribute: Intellect (INT)
Secondary Attribute: Bardic Voice (BV)

Enchanters use music and song to cast their spells and a few will use poetry or dance in their arts. The enchanter is particularly adept at the methods of Command and Illusion. If an enchanter lacks any of the following skills, penalties are applied until skill is acquired:

Singing or Poetic Recitation: -10% to TSC% for magick targeting rolls Play Musical Instruments or Dancing: -10% TSC% to all magick methods.

Elementalist

Primary Attribute: Intellect (INT)
Secondary Attribute: Constitution (CON)

Elementalists are amongst the most primitive of all the mage types. Their mastery over the elements exceeds that of any other mage type. The Elementalist over the centuries has become more and more specialised as their art has developed. There can now be found four kinds of Elemental Magus, one for each of the four elements. The Elementalist vocation consists of a set of common skills that each Elementalist can learn and a set of additional specialist skills appropriate to a specific type of Elementalist.

PRIESTS

In these rules the main church is the Church of Urto and its Priest vocations are based on the Christian Priests of the Middle Ages. The Priest relies on his Faith for his power, believing unequivocally in the power of the Divine.

Friars

Primary Attribute: Piety (PTY)
Secondary Attribute: Wisdom (WIS)

Friars are members of a religious order who are reliant on donations for their day to day existence. Although they lead a secular life, they do so in the real world, in an individual existence.

Monastics

Primary Attribute: Piety (PTY)
Secondary Attribute: Discipline (DISC)

In comparison with the Friars, the Monks generally wear brown robes and are attached to a particular monastic community, usually known as an abbey. These are self-contained communities, with a church, refectory, dormitory and guesthouse.

Ordained Clergy

Primary Attribute: Piety (PTY)
Secondary Attribute: Intellect (INT)

This is someone who has elected to accept Holy Orders and become ordained as a priest into his chosen faith. Ordained Priests are the mediators between the Divine and their mortal worshippers, the mouthpiece of God. They have greater access to the Acts of Faith granted by God. The greater their faith and Piety the greater the Acts of Faith that they may call upon. Ordained Clergy also have the opportunity to retire from their calling and adopt a monastic life. However, this does not remove their ability to mediate with God. Indeed some Ordained Priests have no lay congregation but rather join Fighting Orders as their priests, adopting a military monastic life.

PRIEST MAGES

The priestly mages are those who practise the old religions. Their vocations call upon the Divine for aid, mingled with knowledge of the Arcane. They are able to practise magick hand in hand with Acts of Faith. These Priest-Mages have survived into the current times, but mainly in seclusion and secrecy.

Druids

Primary Attribute: Various Secondary Attribute: Piety (PTY)

Druids are priestly mages who worship Beleryn, the mother Goddess. Through divination and sacrifice they are said to "know the will of the goddess". In their worship practices, they revere nature and live close to nature, although this does not mean they practie Plant Magick.

Druidic Acts of Faith

As Priests of their religion, Druids are able to call upon Divine Power.

All Druidical Acts of Faith are ritual in nature. The time taken to peform the ritual is:

(Act of Faith PFF x 60) / Druid's PFF in minutes with a minimum time of 1 minute.

Ranks in Druidry

ML	Rank
1-2	Candidate (Fear-iarraidh)	A Candidate is one who has presented himself for study at the Druidic college. They learn some small secrets as they are assessed to see if they are fit to proceed.
3 – 5	Student (Sgoilear)	The Student has proven worthy and will be apprenticed in rites and tasks with more experienced Druids.
6-8	Druid (Druidh)	The Druid is a full priest or priestess. The specialist Druids may be assigned to courts of Kings and the Priestly sent to Sacred Places.
9+	Arch Druid (Ard- Druidh)	The Highest Druid in the land. Any other Druid reaching this magical level but not obtaining the office of Arch Druid may take the rank of "Faidh" or Seer, if they devote themselves to prophecy and foreseeing the future. Some nations do not have a High Druid, preferring a convocation of equals.

REGLIGIOUS FIGHTING ORDERS:

KNIGHTS AND CHAPLAINS OF THE CHURCH OF URTO

Primary Attribute: Strength (STR)

Secondary Attribute:

Order of the Blue Rose Intellect (INT)
Order of the Bear Constitution (CON)
Order of the Chalice Agility (AGIL)

Within the Church of Urto are three fighting orders, these being the Orders of the Blue Rose, the Order of the Bear and the Order of the Chalice. Each order undergoes specific training that results in additional benefits. These are shown in the vocational table.

In addition, some member of the Orders undergo ordination. These Chaplains of the Orders in to the normal Acts of Faith available to any ordained clergy, have access to unique Acts of Faith. These are as follows:

Order of the Blue Rose - Vision of the Goddess

PFF: 15

SC: Chaplain's Faith TSC%

Cost: -2 FP

This miracle allows the Chaplain, whilst kneeling at the side of an ill patient, to enter a short trance that lasts for 5 minutes. Whilst in the trance he will receive a vision from the Goddess Beleryn allowing him to see into the patient's injuries or illness. The result will give a bonus of +10% to their TSC% in any Materia Medicina skill used (if the miracle has a Critical Success the bonus is +20%).

Order of the Bear - Wall of the Goddess

PFF: 20

SC: Chaplain's Faith TSC%

Cost: -5 FP

This miracle allows the Chaplain to bring into force a wall of holy fire which is Faith x 10 feet long and 2 feet x Crit Die high. Anyone trying to cross the fiery barricade with evil intent will suffer fire damage equal to the Chaplain's piety (doubled if Critical Success 10 was rolled when casting the miracle). Should someone with no ill feelings to the Chaplain attempt to cross the barrier they will suffer no injury. The barrier lasts for 15 seconds x Faith TSC%, i.e. a Faith TSC% of 67% gives a duration of 67 x 15 = 1,005 second or 16 minutes 45 seconds.

Order of the Chalice - Breath of the Goddess

PFF: 15

SC: Chaplain's Faith TSC%

Cost: Chaplain -2 FP and Recipient -3 FP

This miracle allows the Chaplain to allow one person to hold their breath underwater for a duration of 15 seconds x Target's Piety (doubled if a Critical Success 10 is rolled on the Crit Die).

A = Any 4 combat skills can be chosen as Primary Skills and Faith as a Secondary Skill. The character will be Squire or Knight in the Fighting Order.

B = Any 2 combat skills and Faith can be chosen as Primary Skills, along with one Language (spoken and written) or Historical Lore skill. The character will be a Brother or Reverend Father (Ordained Priest), a Chaplain in the Fighting Order, and Faith will always be the second skill chosen for Mastery. Within the various Marakush orders, 5% of the Order of the Bear will be Chaplains, 10% of the Order of the Chalice and 25% of the Order of the Blue Rose. (The choice of whether the character is a Chaplain of an Order is the player's choice and should not be rolled randomly.)

<sup>3</sup>If from a chivalric or noble background, Conditioning, Endurance and Stamina training are part of a character's rigorous preparation for Knighthood. They are learnt and improved as a matter of course at –2 DF (BCS +20%, -2 SKP, -200 EXP) and need not be selected for Mastery.

<sup>4</sup>A character of noble background with an INT+WIS = 28+ will learn Battlefield Tactics at –2 DF (BCS +20%, -2 SKP, -200 EXP) and cannot select it for Mastery as this is part of his fundamental training, and since his intellectual capabilities enable him to be considered to have Mastery in the skill.

<sup>5</sup>Some Knights, especially those who become ordained Priests, may become physicians and healers, as Holy Fighting Orders maintain hospitals and minister to the sick and wounded.

<sup>6</sup>In the various Orders additional skills are learnt and these must be shown as one fo the available Mastery slots. The skills are:

Order of the Blue Rose Healing Arts 1

Order of the Bear One additional combat skill

Order of the Chalice Mariner Secondary sills for the Orders are as follows:

Order of the Blue Rose Any Lore skills
Order of the Bear Any Outdoor skills
Order of the Chalice Any Seamanship skills

TABLE 2.30 - VOCATIONAL SKILLS - MARAKUSH - CHURCH KNIGHTS

CONVERTING CHARACTERS FOR "THE ART OF WAR" WARGAME AND "C&S SONNETTS", THE C&S LIVE ACTION EXPERIENCE

On the battlefield Characters are individual figures, which represent the various Heroes, Wizards and Priests who may find themselves on the battlefield. They are always based as individual figures with a frontage equal to their height and a depth equal to the type of troop type whether infantry or cavalry (25mm figures have a frontage of 25mm for example. The first of these we shall look at are the Heroes, characters with some fighting ability who do not have the capability of casting spells or praying for miracles.

During conflicts many members of society with above average ability may find themselves on the field of conflict, Knights, Archers, Foresters, Thieves all have something to offer on the battlefield. All characters are classed as 5 figures when making attacks.

These characters also include Player Characters from the role playing version of Chivalry & Sorcery and firstly we shall examine the conversion rules for these characters (these also apply to Wizards and Priests).

Attributes Description

Attack Rating (AR)

This attribute is calculated by adding the bonus for the weapon type (+1 for Light, +2 for Medium, +3 for Heavy and +4 for Two handed) to the PSF bonus (PSF / 10 round up) of the characters main weapons. Increase this score by 1 for every 5 levels of experi ence of the character (6-10 levels of experience would give a +2 bonus)

Defence Rating (DR)

This attribute is calculated by adding the bonus for the armour used (+3 for Battle, Defence, +2 for Heavy, +1 for Light) and the shield if any (+1 for Light, +2 for Heavy and +4 Point for Tower) to the PSF bonus (PSF / 10 round up) of the characters Dodge and Shield play skill. Increase this score by 1 for every 5 levels of experience of the character (6-10 levels of experience would give a +2 bonus)

Move

The number of movement points a character has is equal his Base Action Points divided by 2 rounded up (Characters can ignore the movement reductions for armour).

Morale

A characters Morale level is equal to the characters Discipline score divided by 2 plus the PSF bonus (PSF / 10 round up) of the characters Willpower skill. Increase this score by 1 for every 5 levels of experience of the character (6-10 levels of experience would give a +2 bonus)

Body

A characters Body is equal to the Table top PC's Body divided by 10 rounded up.

Characters receive a number of Saving throws in a battle equal to their level in the role playing game. These saving throws cost 2 points each. These saving throws allow a Character to ignore the results of damage and are made by rolling a D10. To this is added their Defence and Body score and if this exceeds the damage dealt then no damage occurs.

Characters may also have Battlefield Tactics and Leadership scores as indicated in Chapter 1 – Troop Characteristics at the appropriate costs (this is calculated as the skill PSF / 10 rounded up). Characters may also act as generals commanding armies.

A Mage will have a Magick Level (ML), which indicates how many points are available for spell casting and also what levels of spells are available. A Mage can cast any spell which has a MR rating of 2 or more below his ML, so a Mage with ML 7 could cast any spells up to MR 5 in level and have 7 points to cast such spells per battle turn. Although it could be assumed that all spells are available, only certain spells would prove effective on the battlefield. When resolving a spell attack a Mage figure should be counted as equivalent of 5 figures when attacking. Certain spells may require more than 1 round to cast.

A Priest can call upon any Act of Faith which has a Faith Rating (FR) rating equal to or lower than its FL, so a Priest with FL 5 has access to Acts of Faith up to FR 5 in level and have 5 points to call upon such acts per battle turn. Although it could be assumed that all Acts of Faith are available, only certain Acts of Faith would prove effective on the battlefield. Certain Acts of Faith may require more than 1 round to cast.

A list of available spells and acts of faith for the wargame will be made available on the website.

LIVE ACTION

Live action will allow the use of any skill the tabletop character posseses. Further information on the use of these skills will be given at the prelimanary event at Dudley Bug Ball 2002.

The combat system if used will be NON-CONTACT on Health and Safety grounds, and due to the number of families that may be taking part.

It will utilise the Art of War character statistics. Each player will have a number of laminated cards representing their available weapons. Each weapon having an Attack Rating.

If a character wishes to attack another player then he must state that is his intention and select his Laminated Attack Card. The defender must then reveal his Defence Card. If the Attack Card score is higher than the defenders card then the difference is the damage inflicted and is removed from the characters body. If the defenders card is higher he gets a free counter blow, before taking his own attack. It should be noted that the original attacker does not have the oppurtunity for a counterblow.

The cook acquires skill in any five of the following areas of Cooking. Additional areas cost an extra 1 SKP) each to learn and add to one's Cooking skill.

Camp Cooking: This is the preparation of a basic meal over a campfire, roasting meat on a spit, baking bannock and making simple stews or soups.

Baking Bread: This is skill in baking fresh breads, rolls, bannocks and hard tacks.

Baking Pastries & Making Desserts: This is the preparation of fruit pies, pastries and confections.

Soups & Stews: This is skill in cooking soups, stews and other dishes containing meat and vegetables mixed together.

Butchering Fresh Meat: This is skill in slaughtering animals, then skinning, cleaning, de-boning and cutting fresh meat & fowl into attractive cuts, e.g. steaks, roasts.etc

Cooking Meat: This is skill in the roasting, braising, frying and boiling meats and fowl.

Baking Meat Pies: This is skill in the preparation of meat-filled pies and pastries.

Preserving Meat: This is skill in smoking, spicing and curing hams, bacon, sausages, salt pork, beef, or fish, etc., so that they do not readily spoil.

Cooking Seafood: This is the preparing of freshwater and saltwater fish, clams, mussels, oysters, shrimps, lobsters, scallops, etc.

Herbs, Spices & Seasonings: This is knowledge of how to use a variety of herbs, spices, etc., to enhance the taste and aroma of foods. The skill adds +1 to the Crit Die when preparing meat and seafood dishes.

Haut Cuisine: To possess this area of Cooking the character must have at least six other cooking skills, including Cooking - Herbs, Spices, & Seasonings). Possessing this skill adds +10% to TSC% and +1 to the Crit Die when preparing any food.

This skill is the ability to prophesy, to read omens presaging the future, through charting the stars (Astrology), reading signs in the heavens or the entrails of sacrificial animals (Augury), throwing the Runes, reading the Tarot, scrying through a Crystal Ball etc. The player specifies one such method when his character learns the skill (see Table 3.1 - Methods of Divination). Extra types of divination can be learned by expending an extra 5 SKP per form of Divination. The extra forms of divination are raised in level separately from the initial three at the usual cost. Each area of specialisation will add +10% to the TSC% of the divination skill if that specialised form of divination is employed to Interpret the Omens.

This skill gives a character the knowledge of the many laws, which govern the mechanics of Magick. It should be considered as a pre-requisite for any spell casting activity. A Magus without this skill suffers a penalty of –15% to his TSC% in any Method of Magick or spell casting. There are a number of specialisation's that can also be learnt that give a Magus beneficial bonuses and these are shown in Table 3.2 – Laws of Magick. Each of these specialities costs 250 Experience Points. More details on this can be found in section Applying the Laws of Magick in Chapter 5 – Magick.

Modes of Magick [~]
Modes of Magick represent the attunement of a particular Magus to the various Methods of Magick. One must learn the Enchantment Mode to be considered an Enchanter or learn the Conjuration Mode to be called a Conjuror. These modes dictate the Magus' ability to learn and cast the various Methods of Magick as governed by the Metaphysical Laws. They also affect a Magus' ability to successfully target a spell.

A character choosing a priestly vocation also has the option to further specialise by initially spending an additional 5 SKP on any one of the following and then an extra 1 SKP per level in Theology skill gained thereafter:

Liturgy: Specialised knowledge of the rites required for communal worship. The character gains a bonus of +1% per level in Theology to belief rolls of Believers participating in such rites presided over by the character. He also gains +1 to the Crit Die.

Scripture: Specialised knowledge of the writings of the religion. The character gains +1 to the Crit Die when quoting scripture in debate.

Canon: Specialised knowledge of the code of laws of a particular religion. If an individual is tried under religious law, a character can substitute Theology for Law when he is acting as prosecutor or defender and gains a bonus of +2% per level to his TSC% when making his case.

HEROES OF MARAKUSH - LAWS, CRIME & PUNISHMENT

As a result of its history, Solda has a similar set of laws as the country of Urtind. This is due to the fact that many of the laws were established during the period of the Raas Dynasty in Urtind, when Solda was still part of Urtind. After Solda gained its independance, the laws and their punishement remained in use, simply because they worked.

There are four categories of law - military, religious, civil and criminal.

Military Law

All crimes result in a loss of honour.

Honour	Crime	Punishment
All	Cowardice	Flogging 200-200 lashes <sup>1</sup>
2-20	Carrying out an order in a negligent fashion	Flogging 5-50 lashes
2-16	Refusing to carry out an order	Flogging 10-100 lashes
All	Desertion	Outlawed, if caught death by hanging
All	Mutiny	Outlawed, if caught death by drowning

1If the flogging is survived, the social status is reduced to Serf and the guilty party is bonded to another clan.

Flogging: System shock roll is needed every 40 lashes to check survival.

Religious Law

Crime	Punishment
Desecration	Death by stoning
Heresy	Death by burning
Blasphemy:
Major	Death by starvation
Minor	1 week in stocks
Sacrilege	Death by burning
Necromancy	Death by burning, stoning and starvation <sup>1</sup>

<sup>1</sup>The miscreant is burnt and stoned to within and inch of his life and then starved.

Punishment

Civil Law

<sup>1</sup>This offence applies to any commoner not having the right or permission to hunt deer.

LAW ENFORCEMENT

Law enforcement in towns and cities is normally provided by the Watch, but on highways and in rural lands, law enforcement is by the local Lord and his seargeants at arms.

However, to ensure that the Lords of the realm themselves behave in a legal and lawful manner, King Grismol has developed the system of a roving Justices, who are responsible only to the King. These Justices, accompanied by a retinue of veteran knights, men-at-arms and a Priest Confessor travels throughout the land and received the appeals of all citizens regardless of rank.

Fines: Normally 5D10 x 50 silver Spears (depending on the circumstances).

THE LANGUAGE OF URTISH

The Urtish tongue is a principle language amongst many of the realms in the Dragon Reaches. The language uses 11 vowels and some 30 consonants, which are here shown translated into their nearest English (Pedrandir) equivalents.

Verbs

Urtish regular verbs use only six tenses. There is only one irregular verb and that also uses six tenses.

Present.

Root + "a" if the final letter of the verb is a consonant. Root only if final letter of the verb is a vowel

Past:

Root + "ant" if the final letter of the verb is a consonant. Root + "nt" if the final letter of the verb is a vowel

Future:

Root + "est" if the final letter of the verb is a consonant.

Root + "st" if the final letter of the verb is a yowel

Imperative:

Use the root of the verb only, the only exception being the irregular verb "to be" whose imperative is "be".

Participial:

Root + "in" if the final letter of the verb is a consonant Root + "t" if the final letter of the verb is a vowel The only exception to this is the irregular verb "to be" whose participial is "beat"

Auxiliary:

Root + "in" if the final letter of the vowel is a consonant Root + "lin" if the final letter of the verb is a vowel.

The tables on the followin page are examples of the verb ILEING, meaning "to throw" and the irregular verb SA, meaning "to be".

Noun Forms

Noun plurals are created by adding "ee" to a noun ending in one or more consonants. Words ending in a vowel add "s". The possessive is formed by dropping the final vowel, if any, and adding "u". Add "-un" to plurals after dropping the final vowel.

Sentence Construction

Urtish sentences have the form "subject - verb - object" only.

For example:

"The dragon has been killed by the King" would be simplified in the "The King has killed the dragon" using the verb "to kill" in the past tense. In Urtish this would be "Shy Kyng so songant shy drucas".

In the present tense this would be "The King is killing the dragon", which in Urtish would be "Shy Kyng so songa shy drucas".
